

How To Autoinstall Applications Such As WordPress or PHPBB

This article contains information about auto-installing applications.

All of our linux shared hosting plans offer a free utility called Softaculous which allows you to easily install and configure the most popular web applications available.

The Softaculous button is usually located under the "Software/Services" section of your Midphase Control Panel (cPanel).

A list of the software included with Softaculous is available here.

Related articles

Content by label

There is no content with the specified labels

