

Does Midphase Support IMAP

This article contains information about IMAP support for our shared servers.

Yes, IMAP is enabled by default on the shared hosting server, there is no configuration required from within cPanel. In your email program you would use IMAP instead of POP3. Use your full email address as your account username and your email password, use yourdomain.com as your incoming and outgoing server.

If you have more questions, please contact technical support.

Related articles

Content by label

There is no content with the specified labels

